

THE NAYAX PULSE

Attending to our customers, tending to each other

News from the field

Greenspot, part of the Schuster real estate group, is partnering with EV Meter to install the advanced charging stations across Israel.

Greenspot's goal is to develop and expand charging infrastructure for electric vehicles in the public and private space, promoting the transition to clean electric transport.

In order to fulfill its vision for the future of electric vehicles, Greenspot has partnered with EV Meter in Israel. Along with the latest technologies, Greenspot has installed EV Meter advanced charging stations in strategic locations around the country, providing management and clearing services to drivers of EV vehicles in both the private and public sectors.

Greenspot is proud to partner with EV Meter as both companies share the same view, in seeing the consumer and the customer (the facility) as key figures in promoting the transition to electric transport. Accordingly, the company has developed dedicated platforms for charging electric vehicles while offering the best support and service to quickly respond to any consumer-related issue.

The two companies continue to collaborate to deploy charging points across the country, emphasizing service, reliability and user-friendly interface.

Celebrate!!

Welcome to this crazy world, baby!
Congrats to Dganit Meyer, on the birth of her baby boy – 16.4

Send a birthday greeting to our friends below!
Lev Chernin 14.4
Lior Weisz 17.4
Noa Ustin 20.4
Dima Goldstein 21.4
Maxim Kabakov 21.4
Amir Stern 25.4

Congrats to all on their work anniversaries!
Dor Raz – 1 Year
Michael Habash – 1 year
Takane Nakamura – 1 year
Brian Dunn – 1 year
Dima Goldstein – 1 year
Liron Grossman – 3 years

Making a difference

The Nayax team came together to donate enough to plant 1,369 trees, tragically destroyed in the destructive fires in Australia. Each dollar donated by an employee was matched by Nayax. Well done!

Ready to learn something new?

Hat tip to Guy Levin for curating this list:

- Professional/educational tips
- edX Class Central
Everything from computers to art to finance to language to history to ...
www.coursera.org
Arts, sciences, computers, finance, language, etc.
- Udemy.com
Really cheap courses in almost everything. Because they are ordered by thousands, you can take a Java Spring course for $5 - $15.
- LibreText
Full online and downloadable texts + 3D simulations + demos in pretty much any area you want to learn. Taken from many US university classes.
www.otzar.org/otzaren/indexeng.asp.
Over 100,000 scanned Jewish texts, the largest online, ancient to present times. Searchable.

Children's Corner

- Kid's World Travel Guide
See the world through children's eyes – fun for grown-ups too.
- National Geographic
For kids of all ages (and anyone who wants to learn something new). Not just geography; lots of other sciences and humanities subjects, too. Thousands of articles searchable by type and subject. Maps, videos, photos, activities.

Chronicle – a word from Nayax employees

Miss being able to see colleagues in the hall? Saying hi in the kitchen? Here's a quick intro to 2 Nayax employees: Adriana Zhu and Omri Peled, both from Nayax China.

Adriana Zhu's interview

What's your story? (tell us about you / family / background)

I am Chinese, born and raised in China. I have a one-year old little boy, an Israeli husband and we live in Shanghai. I enjoy good food but am not good at cooking myself. I like sports like surfing and skiing – mostly I like to work. LOL.

What do you do at Nayax?

I am currently sales manager for the Chinese market.

Your tip for WFH (work from home)

I like to work from the office and only relax at home, so no tips from me!

What's your Netflix addiction?

Ozark. It's a super good show – I recommend it to everyone.

What's the first thing you will do when the quarantine ends?

Order food delivery immediately, finally they can deliver to my door instead of my compound gate!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Omri Peled's interview

What's your story? (tell us about you / family / background)

I'm from Israel, born and raised in Netanya, but have been living in China for 15 years now. With Adriana, we have the cutest 1+ year-old boy (sometimes nicknamed "The Terminator") (I'm not biased 😊). I play the guitar, drums and have quite a big collection of T-shirts. I'm a beginner surfer and have been a snowboarder for the last 20 years.

What do you do at Nayax?

I have managed Nayax operations in Asia since 2011. This means I oversee sales to operators in the region, payment integrations, partnerships, working with global OEMs and keeping my eyes open for new technologies. Throughout the years I have witnessed Nayax products and solutions' rapid evolution, saw 4 different office locations in Nayax Israel and have had the privilege of working with almost every department in the company.

Your tip for WFH (work from home)

We were in quarantine for about 45 days. During that period, our son started walking by himself, so we changed the living room layout about 3 times! I went out to buy groceries every 2-3 days and cooked many different types of food - cooking helped me to keep my sanity in the first weeks. I had the opportunity to play the guitar much more than I used to so that was great. If I had to give one tip, it's that you shouldn't listen to the news too much. Follow the guidelines from your local authorities and stop reading depressing news. I wish I would have exercised more in quarantine but with a baby at home it was almost impossible so if you can – now it's your chance to exercise more!

What's your Netflix addiction?

Ozark was pretty good, although quite dark. We are now watching Tiger King which is appalling and appealing at the same time 😊

What's the first thing you will do when the quarantine ends?

For us in China the quarantine was over 4 weeks ago and things seem back to normal almost 100%, although everyone is still wearing masks and there are no schools yet. We really want to take our son to the beach, so our plan is to visit Israel in the summer to let him enjoy the beach for the first time.

We heard you

Nayax Pulse Survey results are coming up! Thanks to everyone who participated and made their voice count. We'll share the results with you soon.

We launched the University!!!

It has over 20 courses so far, with more and more content updated, almost on a daily basis

Our top three learners so far (based on completed courses):

Points leaderboard

Ranking	User	Points
1	Boris Sobol	4625
2	Daniel Umlauf	3100
3	C-zi Patel	2200

Looking on the Bright Side!

We're all facing lots of challenges during this time, but we can still look on the bright side! What are you happy about these days?

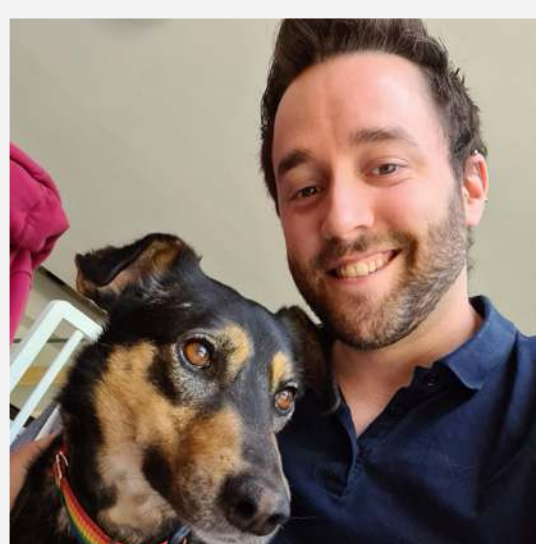

Alberto Bar-Noy
Software Team Leader, R&D,
Nayax Israel

"I get to sit and work outside in the yard every day all day!"

Hirohisa Gotoh
Software Developer,
Embedded, Nayax Japan

"I have been working at home for almost two weeks, and because of lack of exercise, I take a walk around my home for the time I would normally use for commuting. It's pretty fresh because I rarely walk in nature at such times."

Eliran Maor-Triffman
Technical Training Specialist,
Marketing, Nayax Israel

"Spending time with my dog! She is soooo happy that she sees me all day!"

Abu Emran
Senior Accountant, Nayax AU

"Cooking every day, eating fresh and having 3 meals a day with family"